Teen actors: Well paid?

Teen actors are popular with moviemakers. They may work for less money than adults. Some young actors only make enough to cover living expenses. But not all teens are badly paid. Emma Watson starred in the first Harry Potter movie when she was just 10 years old. She made around $60 million for all eight movies. That's more than many adult actors. After filming Harry Potter, Watson complained, "I have way too much money!" Watson also has deals with perfume and clothing brands. When she was younger, most of her money went to high school and college fees. She has also given money to causes she cares about.
