Using the index

Locating information in a book

Below is part of the index from a book titled The War on Terror.

- ➔ How would you know where to look in an index for a topic that starts with the letter B?
- ➔ For this book, what pages would give you information about the Department of Homeland Security?
- ➔ Bold numbers in an index tell you where you can see photos or pictures. What page would show you a picture of Rudy Giuliani, former mayor of New York City?
- ➔ What page numbers would give you information about Saddam Hussein?

Use the index of War in Afghanistan and Iraq to find information about each of the topics below.

With a partner, write down the page numbers for each topic. Then look at those page numbers in the book. Write down notes about what you learn.

- Where is Baghdad?
- Did war affect the children of Afghanistan?
- How did “weapons of mass destruction” help lead to war?
- Is Osama bin Laden still alive?
