You know who Shawn Carter is, right? Jay-Z!

Jay-Z is a music superstar. He has won many Grammys. He is worth millions of dollars.

Jay-Z grew up in Brooklyn, New York. He was surrounded by a new kind of music: hip-hop. MCs, or rappers, were kings. In the early days, MCs played other people's records.

They rapped their own words over the music. At house parties, Jay-Z heard amazing MCs.

He began keeping a notebook with his own rhymes.

At age 26, Jay-Z produced his first album. Record producers were not interested in his style, so he started his own record company. Now he has many platinum albums. He also runs a business empire. He owns sports bars, a clothing line, and a sports agency. He travels the world and collects fine art 140

In 2013, Jay-Z was on the cover of Time magazine. He had been named one of Time's 100 most influential people. President Obama and the pope were also on the list. These people have big ideas. They set trends. When they speak, the world listens.

Michael Bloomberg was the mayor of New York City. In Time, he wrote about what makes Jay-Z special. He wrote about his rise from poverty and his relentless drive. "In nearly everything he's tried, he's found success," he wrote. "And in doing so, he proved that the American Dream is alive and well."
