

| Name:   | Date: |
|---|-------|
| Re-read the ending of "Sometimes Poem" (p. 37):   |       |
| The checkout lady says I guess your son likes Twinkies, huh? And Miss Edna looks at me sideways. Then she smiles and says, Yeah, I guess he does. |       |
| How is Lonnie feeling in this poem?   |       |
| Why does he feel that way?  |       |
|   |       |
|   |       |
|   |       |